

INSIGHTS

PS5 SUPERCUP 2020-21
20 January 2021

20/01/2021 21:00 - MAPEI STADIUM

JUVENTUS Vs NAPOLI

This will be the 33rd edition of the Italian Super Cup; the team holding the Scudetto has lifted the trophy in 69% of the previous 32 such ties (22 of 32). However, last year's edition was won by Lazio, the Coppa Italia winner.

The Scudetto-winning team have lost four of the last six editions of the Italian Super Cup, two of which coming after a penalty shootout (won by Napoli in 2014 and by AC Milan in 2016).

This is Juventus' 16th participation in the Italian Super Cup (at least five more than any other team) while Napoli will play this match for the fourth time.

All of Napoli's three previous Italian Super Cup finals have been against Juventus. Two were won by the Partenopei (2014 – via penalties – and 1990) and one for the Bianconeri (2012).

In the last 13 editions of the Italian Super Cup, only one has seen a goal scored in the first 15 minutes of play (Juventus' Carlos Tevez in the 5th minute against Napoli in 2014).

Napoli are unbeaten in their last two games against Juventus in all competitions (W1 D1) and could go three in a row without defeat against the Bianconeri for the first time since 2011 (four).

Juventus have found the net in each their last eight Italian Super Cup games, last failing to do so in 2005 (0-1 against Inter).

Kalidou Koulibaly, Faouzi Ghoulam and Dries Mertens are the only three members of the current Napoli squad to have played at least one minute in the Italian Super Cup final won by the Azzurri in 2014.

Should he play, Gianluigi Buffon would become the player with the most appearances in the history of the Italian Super Cup (currently at nine, level with Dejan Stankovic). Indeed, the Italian goalkeeper is also level with Stankovic for most Italian Super Cup wins by any player (six).

Alvaro Morata is the only Juventus player to have scored at least one goal in every competition played by the Bianconeri in 2020-21 so far (Champions League, Serie A TIM and Coppa Italia), while Hirving Lozano is the only Napoli player to have done the same for the Partenopei (Europa League, Serie A TIM and Coppa Italia).